Part VII – Research Activities

VII-A – Keywords and Brief Description

The articles I have published, my working papers and the research projects I am currently involved concern several research issues in the domain of Decision Theory, Game Theory and Experimental Economics, with applications to Public Economics, Environmental Economics, and Cultural Economics. More precisely, they can be divided into four broad categories:

- DECISION THEORY and EXPERIMENTAL ECONOMICS
 - elicitation of risk aversion and of ambiguity aversion;
 - applications of decision under risk to voting problems;
 - applications of decision under risk and under ambiguity to investment problems and insurance problems.
- DECISION THEORY and ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS
 - environmental option values;
 - efficiency of regulatory instruments in environmental preservation.
- GAME THEORY and EXPERIMENTAL ECONOMICS
 - role of emotions in strategic decision making;
 - relation between social norms and strategic behavior;
 - bargaining mechanisms to achieve social optimum.

- APPLIED MICROECONOMICS

- public-private partnerships in the management of technological disasters;
- relation between cultural tourism, social capital and economic growth;
- relation between creativity and innovation;
- agents' behavior in non-competitive markets.
